THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN HAS A LARGER CIRCULATION THAN ANY OTHER MORNING PAPER IN THE DISTRICT OF CO-

FRIDAY MORNING......SEPTEMBER II, 1874.

THE proposition of the New York Herald that a national convention shall be held to restore peace and harmony in the South, meets with a prompt rejection by the Democratic journals of that section. The truth is that the Southern malcontents don't want peace and harmony.

IN MISSOURI, the model Democratic reform State, highwaymen halt omnibuses and stages, and rob passengers. A few years more of this model Democratic reform rule, and we shall hear that the "James boys' and the "Younger brothers" have been elected to offices of trust and honor.

CONGRESSMAN STOWELL will doubtles be renominated in the Petersburg (Va.) district, and of course will be re-elected. This is as it should be. The Democrats of the same district will probably support ex-Representative Porter one of the most ultra Radicals when occasion requires in the country, and at other times an anticivil rights man. This also is as it should be.

Nor Lone Ace a journal, published not a thousand miles from Washington, printed a dispatch, said to be "special," from Madrid, announcing that Minister Cushing was seriously ill. Since then a letter has been received from Mr. Cushing, declaring that his health is better than it has been for twenty years past. The deduction from this is that Madrid "specials" (3) are not always reliable.

Up to this hour no explanation has been made of the origin of the Conshatta massacre in Louisiana, save that several Republican county officers have tendered their resignations under threats. The Gibson county affair, in Tennessee, is explained as the result of the refusal of a white man to pay to a negro the sum of fifty cents due to the latter for unstamped apple brandy From these small beginnings wars of races followed, proving to the Conservatives that the blacks had organized bloody conspiracies for the murder of all the white women and children in the South.

sioned by the report that yellow fever prevails in the South Atlantic ports are simply criminal. They seriously interfere with portance and value of which are really incalculable. The truth is that no well-developed case has occurred in the South, except in the quarantine hospitals. The intent of the Treasury Department in issuing its recent circular regarding this mat-Government, State and municipal authorities for the purpose of efficient quarantine regulations. This was occasioned by the fact that yellow fever does prevail, to a limited extent, in the West India Islands, and may be communicated by fruit vessels to the main land.

Nor many weeks ago the Conservatives of the South were apparently enamored with the idea that President Grant belonged to them, and was willing to sacrifice much to secure their support and friendship. The sis of this idea was to be found in his decided action in the contest between ex-Governor Davis and Governor Coke in Texas. in the Arkansus contest, and in the Vicksourg affair. They did not stop to consider that in all of these instances it was his design and desire to secure peace and harmony and the administration of justice. Misapprehending him, as they did, they rushed from one extreme to another and finally argued themselves into the belief that they had Doense unlimited to do as they pleased. The end was the so-called 'war of races." in which few white men were injured and many black men killed. Now that the President has taken stens to put a store to this career of ranine and murder by the White Leagues, Tax Unions and other Ku-Klux organizations, his popularity with the Conservatives aforesaid has visibly decreased. Instead of being a heroic friend, he is denounced as a military tyrant. "No rogue." &c.

THE most potent cry with which the demagogues who have disgraced the Republican party in the South are accustomed o rally colored voters around their standard is that "a Republican thief is better than an honest Democrat." The logic of this, as the ignorant blacks understand it, is that a Republican thief-like Moses, of South Carolina, for instance-might rob them of their money, while an honest Democrat, like Wade Hampton, would certainly rob them of their political rights, if not of life itself. In plainer terms, they have been called upon to choose between two cylls, and have chosen the lesser; and when we come to examine the matter closely we find that the whites of the South who follow such leaders as Wade Hampton are, after all, responsible for the success of such miscreams as Moses. If they had acted honestly with the blacks, and had taken the trouble to protect them, even by moral force, against Ku-Klux outrages, they would have been able to lead them in a body against corruptionists of either party. But they have done nothing of the kind. Even when the blacks themselves have attempted to imaggurate needed reforms the "high-toned" and intelligent whites have either failed to encourage them, or have really encouraged their enemies,

WASHINGTON STOCK BOARD. When the Washington Stock Board was arganized the representation was made that one great advantage would accrue to the District from such an institution in the protection its securities would receive from its quotations. One of the grand objects in view was alleged to be the making of a market for such securities abroad by quoting them at their intrinsic value at home. This object does not appear to have been realized. Perhaps it would be interesting to know why the six per cent. gold bonds of the District authorized by acts of Congress are quoted at six to eight per cent. discount in currency, and seven per cent. currency bonds are worth only 864 to 90. and 3.65 fifty-year bonds with the Government guarantee are bid for at 69 and no transactions. It is a question in which we are all vitally interested. While a "prophet may be without honor in his own country" a man's credit is generally determined by the prompitude with which he meets his engagements at home. And so with a city by its own people can they expect strangers | the society sent with it the haughty resoluto step to the front and uphold it? The tions which only a proud patriotism could Seligmans, of Germany, who took our have inspired. We deeply sympathize four-million gold six per cent. loan at 96 in | with the society and Mr. Brent, and we are currency three years ago, have just taken | not at all surprised that they have lost all the Government five per cent. gold loan at | faith in human nature. But in the face of so par in coin. Does any man believe that | many reverses, under the chill of so many the four-million loan is one whit the less secure than the Government five per cent.? And yet if the former bonds were offered | in an age which is entirely unworthy of at our stock board to-morrow at 96 would they find purchasers? Probably not. And for the reason that our capitalists can do better with their money. In other words, there is no market here for them, and the true way is to say so instead of quoting bogus prices and bids with the certainty of deceiving people in other localities with regard to the intrinsic merits of the article. The simple truth of the matter appears to be that we have here a legal rate of interest of ten per cent. per annum, that most of our bankers and operators and capitalists are able to realize upon their money from the necessities of their neighbors and customers, by cashing notes, pay-rolls, judgments. Government claims, certificates of indebtedness, deeds of trust, mortgages, Ac. &c., all the way from the above-named legal rate of interest up to three, five and even ten per cent, a month. They are not to be censured for this. It is their business and their privilege. But when they have employment for their money in these profitable speculations and have none to invest in the securities of the District, except at similar Shylockish rates, we insist that it is scarcely fair to persist in giving them a bad name from their stock-board in order to frighten away other capitalists who may desire to invest. The District has out $2,750,000 six per cent. gold bonds. Does our stock board mean it to be understood in New York, where those bonds are payable to the order of Jos. Seligman & Co., that any considerable amount of them can be obtained here at its currency quotations? Of course not. And it is just so, we imagine, with all the other securities upon the list. If an order of any magnitude were received by a member of the board, he would be unable to fill it at standard quotations. If we are correct in our surmises, the policy of the board is that of the dog in the manger. Because the moneyed men of this vicinity do not want permanent investments at low rates of interest themselves, they are determined to pursue such a course as will prevent, if possible, foreign capital from taking up our low-rate loans. It is of no avail to say that the rates are too low; that the interest is insufficient. We have shown that highrate bonds meet a similar fate at the hands of this home board, which was organized with a professed special design to protect and advance the credit of the District. Three-sixty-five or seven-thirty, currency or coin-all are quoted below par. Nothing is quite good enough to pass muster at this board. When no transactions are made, the gossip and guesses of the members ought not to be published as bono fide prices of securities.

THE NATIONAL BANKS AND

GEORGE WASHINGTON. Two or three months ago the Washington National Monument Society, after a long and solemn consultation, hit upon the idea that if they could only interest the national banks in the work of completing the monument to the Father of his Country, the long-neglected shaft would soon rise in all its majesty and stateliness along the the progress of commercial affairs, the im- | Potomac banks, a thing of beauty and a joy forever. Accordingly, Mr. J. Carroll Brent, the devoted, enthusiastic secretary of the association, who for nearly half a century has had the monument in his thoughts by day and in his dreams by night, drew up one of those eloquent cirter was to secure unanimity of action among | culars in which he has from year to year endeavored to awaken the natriotism of the country, and sent it, with a neat cut of the monument, to every national bank in the Union, appealing to them in the sweetest and tenderest way to send their contributions and send them quickly, so that the great disgrace to our country might be blotted out before the centennial sun of July, '76, rose upon the unsightly pile.

The conception was certainly splendid

It was a really beautiful thought. Were not the national banks, some two thousand number, the favored, pampered institutions of the country, which would not be in existence at all if G. W. had not been born and devoted his massive intellect to its creation? What more rational than to suppose that they would be glad to avail hemselves of the opportunity to honor the memory of the man who had done so much for them? What more reasonable than to imagine that they would have the generosity to contribute of their abundance of wealth-wealth, too, wrung from the necessities of the nation-to an object so noble, so deserving, so worthy in every way of assistance at the hands of a band of patriots like the presidents, the directors and the national bank stockholders! The circulars flew thick and fast from the Atlantic to the Pacific-from, as poor, dear, departed Schuyler Colfax used to say, the rock-bound coast of Maine to where the waters of the gulf lave the golden sands of the southland. And, as the newspaper press, following the patriotic example of The NATIONAL REPUB-LICAN, began with a rare unanimity from one end of the country to the other to inderse the disinterested and self-sacrificing effort of the saintly secretary of the association, Mr. Brent began to gles fully rub his hands and to at last talk glowingly and confidently about the completion of the great memorial to America's greatest. son-we forgot, Father. The treasures of the Black Hills, of Jones' silver mine in far Nevada, were as nothing to the treasures which should soon be poured in upor the patient society which has been watch ing and waiting all these weary years for that generous moment in the life of the American people when the golden rills should trickle down from every hamlet and village and unite in one broad stream at the monument's base. The day of pennies whose magic music the marble blocks should leap to their places, as in the cities of the olden time. It was, as we said, a really beantiful thought. But also for the vanity of human expectations, and especially for the expectations of Mr. Brent and the National Monument Association! After some months of patient waiting, a few bundred visits to the post office box of the society, and an eager scanning of the monument mail, during which Mr. Breat experienced all the emotions, from rosy-hued anticipation to dull and dark despair, he and the society have at last come to the conclusion that our national bankers are as lost to all patriotic feelings as the rest of the republic, that all appeal to them is as fruitless and as vain as to the cold and obdurate Congress, the insensible State Legislatures, the impecunious Sunday-schools, the irresponsive public. If, as we said, the beginning was beautiful, the end of this latest movement to build the monument is certainly sad. Another effort defeated, another hope shivered, another dark and dismal disappointment! Only three answers from nineteen hundred bankers! Only a pitiful three hundred dollars! No wonder that Mr. Brent, in angry indignation, returned the money, or district or State. If its credit is decried as he did two or three days ago, and that in poor boxes, of Sunday school collections, of vain appeals to a hard-hearted Congress, of dollar certificates, of contributions of defeats, the sweet reflection and consolation remain to him and the society that they live them and of the cause in which they are laboring in the face of so much apathy and indifference.

LABOR AND CRIME. "An observer" writes to us from Philadelphia that when the grand jury for the August term of the Quarter Sessions of that city visited "the prisons and peniton-"tiaries they were amazed to see the large "number of young men, ranging from sev-"enteen to twenty-one years, imprisoned "as criminals, and, upon inquiry, were "told they had no trade, and it was almost 'Impossible for them to get a chance to "learn a trade of any kind." The explanation of this deplorable condition of affairs will at once suggest itself to those who have made a study of the effects of the restrictive rules of trades unions. Those rules prohibit employers from taking more than a limited and prescribed number of apprentices. The result is that hundreds and thousands of the youth of the country are compelled to grow into manhood without acquiring any knowledge of even the most ordinary means of procuring a livelihood. They are consequently set adrift upon the community idlers, vagrants and criminals. The trades unions claim the right to make these restrictions as a matter of self-preservation, and fail to realize the fact that, with rare exceptions, the country is never overstocked with good mechanics of any description. On occasions when business is dull, and when commerce is stagnant under the influence of financial panic, it is true that the mechanics suffer: but at the same time we find that threefourths of the members of these trades unions are of foreign birth, naturalized by our laws to become citizens in the full acceptation of the term. Their sons feel the restrictions to which we refer, and in turn run the risk of becoming either an expense or a scourge to the community. While we admit that a comprehensive consideration of this important subject leads to dangerous ground, involving the correctness of our policy of inviting and encouraging immigration, we insist that it can be settled without infringing upon the rights of any class. The troubles of which we complain are mainly confined to cities of large growth and thickly-settled communities, where the trades unions work their greatest iniquities. In the country, in the agricultural districts, lawlessness and crime are confined to boisterous rowdyism and outrages upon the person, while burglaries, thefts are larcenies are unknown. It requires but a glance at this statement of unleniable facts to see that where labor is without restriction in its natural growth crime is checked, while where the inhabitants are crowded together in small spaces recruits for the prisons and penitentiaries abound plentifully. The deduction which naturally suggests itself is that the surplus population of our great cities should be reeded out. How to do this, and to do it without infringing upon the privileges of interests, is the problem. Surely the country is large enough, with its boundless area of undeveloped agricultural lands, and with its unlimited resources of every description, to afford employment for millions of men who seek our shores as the refuge of the oppressed of all nations. Although this is not a new subject, and is one that has attracted attention for generations, it is one which grows in importance with the growth of our country.

WE PRINT elsewhere this morning a card rom Judge Poland, of Vermont, in which he states the reasons which have induced im to withdraw from the present canvass for a re-election. We commend them to the perusal of his many friends in this vicinity, confident that their esteem for the writer will be heightened by the honorable and patriotic sentiments to which he gives expression. While Vermont, in her wealth of talent, genius and political integrity, may feel abundantly able to dispense with the services of Judge Poland as one of her Renresentatives in Congress, the nation at large will not be easily convinced that his place s well and worthily filled by any successor which they may select. The card breathes the spirit of conscious rectitude, and in it the Judge relinquishes the trust so long reposed in him with a grateful acknowledgement of the favor and confidence shown him in the past, and which he believes that time will demonstrate is still unimpaired.

A SPECIAL DISPATCH from Paris, received it London yesterday, announced M. Guizot, the eminent French anthor and statesman, in a omatose state, and his death imminent. Those to whom the statement has been read declare it will make as much sensation as the original statement of Moulton. New letters from both Mr. Beecher and Mrs. Tilton will be introduced.

afes en it. The Indinnapolis (Ind.) Journal thinks the great error of the reconstruction policy has been dealing too mildly with ex-rebels. They have nistaken the leniency of the Government for tim-dity, and the result is they have built up a system of terrorism down there scarcely less appalling than that which existed before the war.

Of all the politicians brought to the surface by the Reform movement, says the Nation, Governor Dix is almost the only one who has managed to strengthen instead of impair his good famwhile in office, and he is almost the only man who, in New York city, would call out what we might call the respectable and disgusted vote. The St. Louis Republican says the Southern ople must learn to punish "young men of good mily" who commit homicide just as rigorously as they would a negro or a poor white for the me offence. Until human life becomes dearer than it is now in the South we fear that the un-
